THOUSANDS HOMELESS, MANY DEAD IN WAKE OF HURRICANE THAT SWEEPS HAVANA

With forty dead, 600 injured and thousands homeless, Havana today staggered to its knees to begin repairing the $30,000,000 in damage wrought by the third terrific hurricane this year. Devastation lay over the whole of the greater city with the wind still high, but with the full whip of the storm gone out over the sea, where it grazed Florida on the east coast, swept the Bahamas and, then shifting, is now roaring north-northeast up the Atlantic seaboard.

Havana, in Florida, escaped damage although one man was killed by a train hurled down in the high wind. Telephone lines were down between Miami and West Palm Beach and only one telephone line would remain. Movable today's force were felt for the safety of several vessels with passengers in the storm zone, especially following reports of an S. O. S. from an unidentified craft. Efforts were directed to get into communication with Spanish ships of the Bahama Islands, toward which the hurricane was veering. Radio operators had been unable to establish communication with the Bahamas.

Communication had not been re-established with the Isle of Pines today. Some apprehension was felt for the inhabitants of the island, as it was believed to be in the path of the storm center. The distance continues of great proximity of the hurricane coast the Washington Weather Bureau said today. In the absence of vessel reports position was estimated as latitude 27 degrees, longitude 77 degrees. Storm warnings are displayed on the Southern Florida coast. The hurricane, which whirled across Havana at a velocity that reached 125 miles an hour, was as violent as that which hit Florida last, but it caused widespread damage. AMERICANS IN DANGER. Lady Nancy Astor Much Admired by Queen America must be very proud that the first woman who ever sat in Parliament is an American.

Lady Astor is a warm personal friend of mine and we honor each other for our mutual love of work and fair play. I admire her dauntless spirit, her courage, her energy to abolish her convictions. There is a sincerity of purpose about her which I am entirely in sympathy with. The first day we met I liked and trusted her, but she took a little longer to recognize the good in me. She was full of American prejudice against queens, considering that there could not be any real good in us. No unbiased judgment, no real human touch.

Here again we meet. Our almost distressing outspokenness is something like an offense to those who grow more slowly. But both of us count on being forgiven seven times more slowly because of our earnest desire to do good.

The were conversational at any time to consider each word to consider each action. Sometimes they rate the bit between their teeth and friction both friend and foe.

But those who have a will to do good cannot but clear heads. Confound it, both. Frances, Frances, Frances.

The direct struck several other ships at anchor, causing considerable damage before being taken into tow by tugboats. The prisoners aboard, including a number of Chinese, were badly frightened. They were brought ashore and jailed.

Three hundred families were given temporary shelter in the Emergency Hospital and many other institutions have been thrown open for temporary relief to those whose homes have been rendered uninhabitable.

QUEEN MARIE'S WARNED TO TAKE A REST; ROYALTY TO BE MOVED AT SEQUENT

series of ropes—pearls caught up for the chain. She also wore a necklace of large diamonds and bracelet of pearls around each wrist. Drest from her shoulders was a train of brilliant jade green which fell to the floor and dragged a few inches. The train was underlined with silver. The Queen carried a square of ermine.

After presentations and the supper in the dining room, the guests returned to the ballroom for dancing. The Queen does not dance, but Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana took part and apparently enjoyed it immensely.

King Ferdinand is a Roman Catholic. The Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas belong to the Greek Orthodox Church. The reason for this diversity of creeds was explained by the Rumanian consul here.

"According to the constitution of 1861," he said, "members of the royal family shall belong to the Greek Orthodox Church. The king having been born before this body of laws was passed, remained a Catholic. The queen, coming from England, was not expected to change her religion."

The Greek Orthodox Church is the church of the state. However, there is great religious tolerance in Rumania.

'CRY BABY' BURGLAR JAILED

Providence, Oct. 21.—Felix Lemake, 16, more or less hero of 100 burglaries in and about this city, showed nothing of the dime-novel desperado in his attitude today when he was sentenced to serve ten years in State's prison.

The youngster, who had been the host of his avaricious mother, qualified as "The Weeping Burglar" when Judge Hahn pronounced sentence. The justice said were it not for the boy's youth and his evident weak mentality, the sentence would have been three times as severe.

The police laid 52 actual breaks on Lemake's shoulders, while they expressed the opinion the total would reach 100.

TURBULENT CAREER OF DEBS ENDS

Elmhurst, Ill., Oct. 21.—Eugene V. Debs, 70, five times the standard bearer of the Socialist party in presidential elections, is dead here.

A heart affliction, from which the Socialist leader had been suffering for a quarter of a century, caused his death. For the past month he had been at a sanitarium here.

Debs was before the public during the big railroad labor disputes in the Middle West from 1890 to 1900. During this time he was an officer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen.

During the World War an attack he made on the government for taking part in the war and the terms of the selective service act resulted in his being sentenced to ten years' imprisonment. He was released by President Harding on Christmas Day, 1921, along with other war prisoners.

His turbulent career, covering what he termed "the battle for oppressed mankind," won him numerous warm friends as well as many bitter enemies. Friends declare his death broke during his last incarceration at Atlanta.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Gay House Parties Preceding Race Meet at Willowdale on Saturday

GAY HOUSE PARTIES STRIKE THE PRE-
DOMINANT note for the week-end in Myopia's fine hunting country and have as their reason for being the Willowdale Race Meet of Saturday at Bradley Palmer's magnificent Topsfield estate.

MR. AND MRS. AUGUSTUS F. GOODWIN are entertaining guests at their new home, Bradenwood, set high on a hill, with miles of country spread out before it. The Goodwins will have as house guests, among others, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Forbes.

LEO HARRY WORCESTER SMITH, Adam Norton, Henry G. Vaughan, master of Norfolk Fox House, Newell Bent (father of the charming Miss Peggy Bent), Mr. and Mrs. R. Naon Hamilton and others prominent in the hunting fraternity.

THE MYOPIA CLUBHOUSE is center, of course, of the large entertaining for and after Willowdale races. A regular race dinner at the club on Friday is the opening gun, with a notable number of reservations.

FREDERICK AYER and Mrs. Ayer are hosts for a party of thirty guests. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pratt McKean bring a dinner with them. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Goodwin number their guests at twenty and Mr. and Mrs. John K. Howard have fourteen.

LUNCHEON at the club is the Saturday midday rendezvous for this ultra smart set, and in the evening there is a dance, also at the comfortable little clubhouse, where jolity is the keynote.

BYARD TUCKERMAN, perhaps best known of all North Shore sportsmen, is head and trust in the entertaining and Saturday's race meet, as a director and officer in the Eastern Horse Club, New England's new organization of enthusiastic horse breeders and owners.

TUCKERMAN HORSES, of course, will go over the course, and in the last event, for the New England and New York Hunt Cup, Mr. Tuckerman, with Messrs. Gordon Fyke and Arthur S. Sorenson, will ride for Myopia. Gordon Fyke, a hunter, and Arthur S. Sorenson, a hunter, will ride for Myopia.

THE GOODWIN stakes and Colonel McGraw's stakes in the Eastern Horse Club subscription race over two and a half miles, A. handstone, horse, this, which brought glory to the Goodwin colors at Brookline.

AMER BEAD, a subscription horse owned by Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr., and Mrs. Byard.

GWENDOLINE FOULKE SMITH, Pretty Washingtonian of the diplomatic set and daughter of Madame Marcel Levi, has forsaken society for a cinema career.

Tuckerman, Jr., Silver Sand, belonging to William Allen, Jr., and Castle Hill owned and ridden by John K. Howard also are out for honors in the subscription race.

OTHER GOODWIN horses, among the more than fifty entered in the Eastern Horse Club subscription race over two and a half miles, A. handstone, horse, this, which brought glory to the Goodwin colors at Brookline.

POSSIBLE CLUE TO DEATH RAY

New York, Oct. 21 (Universal).—Details of the Cathode Ray—result of a vacuum tube which throws off as many electrons as a ton of radium and which alone poses as the possible forerunner of the death ray—were furnished by the discoverer, Dr. W. D. Coolidge, of the research laboratory of the General Electric Company.

His outstanding work in the development of X-ray tubes won him the Howard S. Potts gold medal at the meeting of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia.

Radium constantly disintegrates and bombarding electrons into atoms at high velocities. It beyond human control, but the Cathode Ray tube, which shoots its death or health-giving electrons into space, has been made to answer the whim of its discoverer.

Therein lies its outstanding feature as a defense in X-ray technique regarded as revolutionary by the leading physicists of the world.

Outstanding among the startling experiments conducted with the new device are:

- Small flies, insects and bacteria are instantly killed by exposure to the rays.
- Crystals of mineral salts become red hot when exposed for a moment, and glow with cold light.

How Well Do You Know Boston in Wee Hours?

Derry, starved for gaiety, discovered that Boston was not the quiet old town she had read about in school. Beautiful, worldly-wise and feverishly seeking frivillity, she finds generous spending escorts who take her on a mad whirl of riotous parties night after night and lasting until dawn.

Where did she go? Where can one go in Boston after midnight? You'll find out when you read the astonishing new story "Summer Bachelors" which begins tomorrow in the Boston Evening American.

In some time.

Ordinary fabric suit turns brown when exposed to the rays.

Coldness, acridity, gas is transformed into yellow, indissoluble solid.

Living tissues in animals have been destroyed.

A minute's exposure puts a hole in a rubber shoe.

A railroad's gray hair has been destroyed and later replaced with a profuse growth of longer, white hair.

Cat-skin and other substances turn to solids when exposed.

3 FLIERS HELD AS SLAYERS

Montgomery, Ala., Oct. 21 (A.P.).—Three army aviators were under arrest here today, accused of killing a Confederate veteran by swooping down from the clouds and striking him with an airplane.

The three are Lieutenants A. J. Lemmon of Indiana, J. C. A. Deussen of Rhode Island and Claire Lynch, Major U. H. C. Richards, commander of the Maxwell flying field, arrived today from Atlanta of Colonel Henry S. Warner, inspector of the Fourth Corps Area. They are charged with voluntary manslaughter and probably will be court-martialed.

Frank G. Dwyer, 43, was slain while inspecting one of the fields in the cotton plantation. Also, Clarke Henry, a negro who stood nearby, was injured when a plane dropped from the skies presumably for the purpose of frightening negro cotton pickers as a job.

The plane went on, leaving no track.

Announcing

Victor's second sensational achievement in music . . .

The New Orthophonic

Victor Record

PERFECTED at last—a record that captures everything and misses nothing! A record of golden, natural, mellow tone, and amazing range—a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola itself!

For two years, Victor experimented to produce this record. The entire resources of the Victor organization were enlisted to find a record that would contain all the musical elements which the Orthophonic Victrola is capable of expressing.

The new Orthophonic Record is the result. It is new—entirely new. It is recorded electrically, and is unparalleled in clarity, in tone, and in fidelity to the original. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Reproduces all tones of all instruments

On these new Orthophonic Victor Records, high notes and low notes are now reproduced in their proper proportions. The bass is deep, sonorous. The higher notes brilliant, expressive. Tones that escaped former recording processes are now caught and reproduced with a naturalness that is positively startling. The spoken word has the breath of life. Even "s" sounds are now perfectly intoned.

Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear the new Orthophonic Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer and hear these wonderful new recordings. It will be an experience you will never forget.

These five points make the new Orthophonic Victor Record superior to any you have ever heard

Unpleasant scratch eliminated

Made from a new, improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Volume and quality have been improved. Also, these records have longer life.

Microphone recording—Orthophonic

Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone is really "you" at the actual performance. It "hears" and records what you would hear were you there, for your enjoyment whenever you wish.

That elusive "third dimension"

Victor has captured in these new records what a great musician has referred to as the "third dimension"—depth!

Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music. The effect is naturalness. Tones are full, round, mellow—of correct volume!

Foremost artists in every class

Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence in the supremacy of Victor Records is more than ever justified by the life-like fidelity of these new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically

An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished playing, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

BE MARRIED

Fifty-two-year-old Lillian Anderson of Lynn and her 18-year-old son, Roland G. Mason, who returned to the show city from a 20-mile elopement trip made with John Lawless, a friend, was married shortly, young Mason declared today.

The elopement was made at the home of the bride's mother, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, 20 1/2 Third street, Lynn.

Mr. Anderson, who lives at No. 24 Charles street, Lynn, and young Mason, were all at the Anderson home, and had the appearance of being closely guarded.

"I want to marry Lillian," said Roland. "I love her. We shall be married soon."

"We're perfectly happy," Lillian said.

Satan Still Can Find
Evil for Idle Hands
to Do, Says Gates

Pittsburgh, Oct. 21 (A.P.)—Crime is hatched during the spare time of individuals, according to Charles A. Gates, executive secretary of the Massachusetts Advisory Council on Crime Prevention, who spoke today before the 50th annual congress of the American Prison Association here.

"Eighty per cent. of offenses against society," Gates said, "are committed in the free hours between 6 and 11 o'clock, p. m., and over 40 per cent. of juvenile delinquency occurs on Saturday and Sunday."

He said that the Boston Police Department, "and we don't see why anyone should but it in our affairs."

Mrs. Anderson, the girl's mother, at first declared the youthful couple were married. Later, when confronted with a story of the trip she admitted no ceremony had taken place, but declared a marriage would be solemnized shortly.

On September 1 Lillian Anderson and Roland Mason, married in Southbury, N. H., and on returning to Lynn announced that they had been married. Then, accompanied by Lewis, they made another trip to Chicago by way of Indiana, being arrested in White Plains, N. Y., by state troopers, and turned over to the Federal authorities. Last Sunday the respective families of the couple went to White Plains, straightened out the matter with the Federal agents, and brought the young people home, arriving last night.

AIMEE SHOWED FATIGUE, SAYS
WITNESS

Los Angeles, Oct. 21 (A.P.)—Hamon R. Gonzales, Anna Prita, Mexican, schoolteacher, into whose house Aimee Semple McPherson said she stumbled after escaping from her purported kidnappers, was asked to take the witness stand today to testify at the preliminary hearing against the woman evangelist, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wisnamski, all charged with conspiracy, was resumed.

Speaking through an interpreter, Gonzales yesterday testified Mrs. McPherson stumbled into his house, apparently in an exhausted condition. In a Los Angeles hotel, a few hours after coming from Mexico, Mrs. McPherson had told a different story. At that time she is reported as saying that she showed no signs of fatigue when she reached Anna Prita.

One of the police officers called, C. E. Cross, who had previously testified that he thought Mrs. McPherson was quite capable of making the trek across the desert, had the evangelist after she said she escaped from her kidnappers.

Mrs. Wisnamski testified that the evangelist offered her money to pose as her mother, and that she, Wisnamski's companion at a Carmel conference, recently recovered from the effects of an abortion on her job, Mrs. McPherson, was able to walk into the court room unassisted.

'A. & P.' AT 67,
CELEBRATES

Starting with one store in 1859, the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, now embracing thousands of stores in nearly every section of the United States, celebrates its sixtieth birthday anniversary today.

George Huntington Hartford, a Maine boy, opened the first red-front store in New York city. The first store in New York city was sold, but the success of the undertaking caused him to sell other properties, until now the store carry a complete line of groceries.

The company conducts forty large food depots located throughout the country, and has its own coffee roasters, bakeries, and meat markets in Atlanta and similar plants.

NEW CONSERVATORY TO TEACH STAGE DANCING

Another institution will be added to Boston's great wealth of schools when the State Conservatory of Dancing will throw open its doors on next Saturday at the State Ballroom.

The aim of this new institution is to teach boys and girls not more than 16 years of age every branch of stage dancing including ballroom, tap, and acrobatic.

Harold De Wolfe, formerly the Metropolitan Opera Ballroom, has been engaged as a master in Harold De Wolfe's new conservatory.

The conservatory is a branch of the State Conservatory of Dancing is sponsored and backed by a group of highly respectable theatrical men who promise to encourage and assist the boys and girls who may be fitted for stage work.

An Old Boston Jewelry House
1839 --- 1926

Eighty-seven years ago, Edwin B. Horn began a business on Cornhill, Boston, Mass., from which sprang in direct line the present well-known Diamond and Jewelry House of The E. B. Horn Company.

Originally a dealer in candlesticks, lamp glass, clocks and looking glasses, Edwin B. Horn and his son, Edwin J. Horn, Jr., soon established themselves as a Watch and Jewelry House.

In 1845 they moved to New Street, at that time Boston's leading shopping street. As the business grew and prospered and as the location changed in character, they decided to move to Washington Street in 1876, taking a long lease of number 429, their present location, close to the corner of Summer and Winter Streets.

In 1891 a corporation was formed under the name of The E. B. Horn Company, and directed by William A. Whittemore, Charles A. Woodson and Fred A. Horn, a grandson of the founder of the business, has grown to large proportions and has maintained its established reputation as a leader in the Diamond and Jewelry industry in Boston.

Because of an uninterrupted tradition of service, combined with an efficient, progressive organization, The E. B. Horn Company's store has become a landmark known to generations of New Englanders. The principles upon which Mr. Edwin B. Horn founded his store—square dealing and highest quality merchandise—have been maintained during the entire eighty-seven years, and it is the sincere purpose of the present management to adhere to these principles in the future.

Answer:

Correct Answers to Simple Questions Will Bring Rich Rewards to Many Boston Evening American Housewives

Ever dreamed the favorite dream of mankind? Ever imagined what you would do "if you had a million dollars?"

Reality is better than dreams. Five hundred dollars in actual money is better than a make-believe million. So cash in on that dream. Join the Martha Lee Homemakers Contest, and try for the big $500 prize.

And this is how some lucky person is going to get it. The Boston Evening American, in its printing, one question a day for thirty-three business days, in all a set of thirty-three questions.

The first question appeared a week ago, Thursday, October 14. The last will appear November 20. Each person answering these thirty-three questions and sending in a complete set of them at the end of the contest runs a good chance of winning one of the forty big prizes. Six questions have been graded here is the seventh.

Seventh Question:
DO CUSTARDS REQUIRE A SLOW, MEDIUM OR HOT OVEN?

Write the answer to this? Almost too easy, but still from some of the custards one may be sure, everybody doesn't know how to cook them to perfection. So fill out the coupon, write in your name and address and put it away in the rest of them.

Stick on to the coupons until the last question has been printed. No coupon will be considered until after that day.

There is nothing until you have the entire set of thirty-three coupons. Then mail them all at us to the Homemakers Contest Judges, Boston Evening American, P. O. Box 124, Boston, Mass.

There will be 40 prizes given by the Boston Evening American to prize winners. One thousand dollars in all.

Five hundred dollars goes to the winner of the first prize, $100 to the winner of the second and $75 to the third. The fourth prize is $50, the fifth $25, then ten prizes of $10 each and 25 prizes of $5 each.

The prize winners will be those contestants whose sets of answers in the opinion of the judges, most accurately and practically and intelligently provide the required information. The judges will be, Mrs. E. M. Leonard, president of the Homemakers League, Miss Alice Ledyard, principal of Miss Farmer's school of Cookery, and your own Martha Lee, household economist of the Boston Evening American.

Contestants may send in as many sets as they desire but no contestant shall be entitled to more than one prize.

Everyone is invited to take part in the fun and try for one of the prizes, except employees and the families of employees of the Boston Evening American and affiliated newspapers.

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio—The friends of Mrs. Helen M. Kowalczyk of 6119 Hope Avenue, were glad to hear that she has regained her health after a long illness.

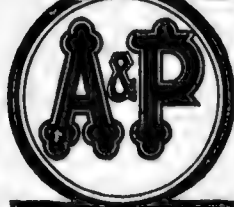

Some time Mrs. Kowalczyk was quite ill and it was impossible for her to work. She took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build her up. After she had started taking it, she wrote to the Pinkham Company as follows: "I certainly feel Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel stronger already and sleep sounder. I am very glad to spread the good news of how it has helped me."

"Happy to Recommend Pinkham's" Detroit, Michigan—"I heard of this medicine through an advertisement in the 'Detroit News' and wrote to Mrs. Grace Gillies, whose letter was published. Then I started taking the Vegetable Compound and got the best results. I used the Vegetable Compound, too. I am really happy if I can help women to take your medicine."—Mrs. M. M. Stewart, 12155 Washburn Avenue, Detroit, Mich.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE FOR CALLED BRUTAL INDUSTRY

Speaking before more than 100 members of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts and the women folk of the Associated Industries of New Jersey, Mr. Shaw said that the industry of the future was not in the hands of the government, but in the hands of the people. He said that the industry of the future was not in the hands of the government, but in the hands of the people. Boss of Braves to Shift Jobs With the Deposed Pirate Leader, Is Report

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 21 (L. N.S.).—A succession of rumors followed in the wake today of Arthur Fletcher's action in making known the fact that he would not be retained as manager of the Philadelphia National League club for the season of 1927. Fletcher wired the news to friends here last night, confirming a report that had been in circulation since the close of the 1926 season. One rumor had it that Dave Bancroft, who is permitted to negotiate with the Athletics, might be their man for next season and that, in the event of that deal being closed, Fletcher would take over the management of the Boston Braves. It was said that Hal Rhine and cash would be asked by Boston in payment for Bancroft, in spite of the fact that the latter has been assured that he may manage the Braves if he wishes. It was thought, however, that the close friendship that exists between Bancroft and Judge E. H. Rhee might prevail upon the latter to let Bancroft go, if he thought it was bettering himself.

Lee Fohl Holds Parley With Owner of Pirates
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 21 (A.P.).—A conference between Lee Fohl, manager of the Pirates, and the owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has set several observers in a state of excitement. DAILY SHORT STORY

PEGGY'S PROGRESS

By Louise P. Armstrong

PEGGY WALES wanted to be considered a good sport. She was a handsome girl, with regular features and a pair of lusty legs, which she used to her great advantage. In that by endeavoring to reap the benefit of their full effect upon the masculine sex she rather overdid her mark. At any rate, soon after her advent into the little town of Cadwiler, Peggy was seen to attract a great deal of attention.

The men smiled at her, paid her marked attention. She saw that the girls disliked her, but of that she was not at all concerned. She was a girl who was not at all concerned with the opinion of the girls. She was a girl who was not at all concerned with the opinion of the girls.

Peggy was playing her game with a cunning hand. She was just a little too "lucky" to make a favorable impression. She laughed a little too loudly, she danced a little too audaciously, her skirts were rather too narrow and brief, notwithstanding the chilly weather and the fact that she was a girl who was not at all concerned with the opinion of the girls.

Tom and Dolly Winston happened one day one Saturday night at the Country Club. They had seen a little of each other since the crowd came together for their respective life. My father was a good man, but stern. He had no patience with the pleasures of youth. When he died, he left other and I, a mere child, I imagined my life would be different. I was going to be followed.

Tom laid a hand on the girl's arm. "I understand how you feel," he said. "We have hurt you, and now you don't understand. But after all, can't you make us see you as you really are?"

She drew herself away from him, coloring with suppressed rage, the rage of humiliation.

"It's going to be up to you," continued Tom, "whether you nurse a grudge, or rise above a blow to your self-esteem, and show the neighbors a thing or two."

"How shall I do that?" asked the girl, looking at him with a challenge.

"Think of what Fred Powell just said. Be honest with yourself. And, Peggy, I take an exceedingly fair-minded person to be a lady."

Peggy Wales seemed to ponder his words. When she turned her face to the light he saw that there were tears on her dark lashes.

"He is right," she said softly. "I have been making myself cheap."

"Don't you think you have shown me that I have, I have?"

"I deeply admire your spirit, Peggy," Tom's voice arose impetuously. "Something tells me we shall be close friends, you and I."

"I have lived in a lonely farm all my

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Calamity is man's true touchstone. —Bacon and Fletcher.

Affection is a greater enemy to the rose than the caterpillar. —Saint Evremund.

Charmancy is profitable for all, its chiefest commodity is their flock. —Bacon.

Weakness on both sides is, as we know, the trait of all quarrels. —Voltaire.

A wise man will make haste to forgive, because he knows the full value of time and will not suffer it to pass away in unnecessary vain. —Cicero.

None but a fool is always right. —Heraclitus.

The contented man is never poor, the discontented never rich. —Heraclitus.

Placidity of person is one of the most necessary signs of character, and one of the best instruments of success. —Cicero.

None pretense better than the art, and also says nothing. —Plato.

If we would not suffer from the failure of others, we must first suffer from our own. —Theologian.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

Prepare all furniture rubbers by hand with the rubber, and then allowing them to dry. A great economy in fuel, and one of the best instruments of success. —Cicero.

These glass covers, made of glass, have been designed for protection in making milk, and also for other purposes. —Cicero.

The first permanent photographic negative was made in the Science Museum in London.

A WIFE'S MEDITATIONS

By Helen Rowland

There are times, when nothing is so sweet to a man as the sensation of a pair of soft arms around his neck and the clinging dependence of a helpless woman. It is the most exquisite sensation that life holds for a man.

And, then again, there are times when a woman's arms are more like a noose than a caress.

It is when a man is busy, preoccupied, tired—tired of the woman—that she appears to him more like an octopus than like a tender clinging vine.

The clinging vine with the wreath-like tendrils. It is only when a man goes to remove one of these that he realizes what a JOE it is.

It is when a man is busy, preoccupied, tired—tired of the woman—that she appears to him more like an octopus than like a tender clinging vine.

There are times when a man loves to have a woman sit at his feet and ask him questions that startle the flow of his brilliant wit, and tell him that it is NOT when he is changing a tire in the hot sun, shivering with a bad cold, shivering with a blunt razor, or figuring out his income tax.

Consoling a timid, clinging woman who is "afraid of the dark" is a delicious adventure. But having her wrap herself around you and scream, when the oak starts, when you are held up by a wasp's stinger.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman. When the husband is a man, the wife is a woman.

Bobbie and His Pa

By William F. Kirk

LAST night Pa felt like talking a heap, he feels that way pretty near all the time but it seemed like he wanted to talk more last night than usual.

After deep thought, Pa to Ma, I am convinced that there is two ways of living this life. The first way, or the Positive, and the second way, or the Negative.

Now close your eyes, and Pa, I will say to you, I want fifty dollars, I want fifty dollars, I am going to have fifty dollars.

MEDBURY SAYS

By John P. Medbury

A WELL-KNOWN social worker says that home would be a whole lot happier if married couples would decorate their walls with a little motto.

THIS may be a good idea, but a Southern woman knows up her home that week because she put her husband over the head with a "God Bless My Happy Home" sign.

TENDRIL notices are all right, but they should have a better frame.

ONE couple used to fight so much that the "Horse Head" sign, and substituted a picture of a bottle.

"WELCOME" is all right to have on your doorstep, but it doesn't mean anything when a man comes in at three o'clock in the morning.

"GOD Bless My Home" also has become useless after midnight.
